for the year 1898 contains much new and valuable information brought down to

City in recent years. It containsA BRIEF HISTORY OF THE PLAGUE

munities, and accurate and detailed descriptions of the public buildings of the City, includ-

BOMBAY DIRECTORYHas been enlarged, verified, and carefully revised up to the day of going to Press.
Special care has been taken that the local information shall meet the wants of commercial men and the general public.This "Times" the leading newspaper in the world, says the volume may be opened at random, and will afford similar examples of its astonishing growth of the city and of the province. The compiler says that nowhere else, probably, in the world, not even in Alexandria, are so many and such striking varieties of race, nationality and religion represented as in Bombay. To all these varieties, and to a vast number of other statistics, is to the service, finance, manufacture, commerce, public health, and the like the attention is paid in this volume. The most important and interesting part of the Guide is the historical, which may be read at leisure, while the rest of the volume will serve as a trustworthy book of reference. A map of India and another of the island of Bombay add to the value of the Guide.Bombay Gazette Offices,

THE WAR

In the second, Having crippled the Albatross and the Albatross of the Spanish ships and holding them under his mercy, Admiral Dewey could afford to call a halt to compare notes and reconsider future movements. The reports of the Albatross and the Albatross of the Spanish ships for Admiral Dewey, the whole of the officers and men have the sincerest admiration. He it was that he was the first to see the Albatross and the Albatross of the entrance of the Bay, and he it was that led off in the fight with the Spanish fleet. For his judgment as well as his pluck and his courage, he is a hero. The Spanish ships were beaten in some quarters because the Spanishs were beaten they are necessarily poor fighters. On this score, an altogether different view is taken. This is hardly fair. Impartial observers, men who have no reason to favour the Spanishs, are unanimously of opinion that the Spanishs were beaten because the Spanishs were sailors fought pluckily and well. Their ships, it must be remembered, were anchored part of the time, and they were not in a position to manoeuvre. The area in which to manoeuvre, thus affording comparatively easy targets for the American gunners, whereas the American ships were under the necessity of manoeuvring in such a way as to make themselves easy of attack. These facts point to one conclusion—that the Spanish sailors still retain the old-fashioned courage and pluck of their forefathers. Should the naval forces in the Atlantic be brought into action under happier auspices than the Philippine campaign, the Spanish sailors would be sure to be on more equal terms, and, the probable result is, in sporting phraseology, 'more open.'

ARMING THE REBELS.

The rebels at Cavite have been receiving large supplies of arms. On 24th May, they received two thousand Mauser breech-loading rifles and 20,000 rounds of ammunition, and the leaders are active in recruiting more men. The Spanish governor, Aguinaldo has since then made a seizure of five hundred Mausers from Spanish troops, which will enable him to arm a force equal to the detachment of Spanish troops at Cavite. The town of Cavite is a town of Cavite. The rebels have also an enormous supply of breech-loading field pieces, and a moderate number of machine guns. They are dressed in small men, and have a rather starved appearance, but they are very wary and tough. A correspondent states and some of those who have previously engaged in the arsenal, were seen carrying fowls and below anvils and vices, and in possession of a field gun which they had taken from one of the Spanish soldiers. They were afterwards seen endeavouring to make the field piece fit for service, and exhibiting marvellous patience and perseverance. It is evident that Aguinaldo has a wonderful influence over the natives, and that he has been able to find men in Cavite when the Spaniards moved out, there are now more than 20,000 men capable of bearing arms, most of whom had assembled since Aguinaldo's return to Cavite. He has also been supplied with a number of rifles with which they are supplied, and he has information that as soon as the attack is commenced on Manila the greater portion of the native soldiers desert to the rebels. It is expected that in a week's time, the expedition which brought over the former shipment of rifles is expected to arrive with further supplies, and that the natives will be more than fully armed before long.

NEWS FROM THE FLEET.

The anxiety of Europeans in the city which has been conveyed to the U. S. fleet by the foreign consuls, shows that the position of affairs is now regarded as critical. The health of the fleet continues good in view of the fact that the fleet has a plentiful supply of chickens, eggs, mangoes, bananas and few pineapples is brought off by natives to the fleet. When Captain Gridley left the Olympia on sick leave for home the day before yesterday morning the gig and rowed him on board the Zafra and gave him three throngs the rails of the Olympia and gave him three

Twenty-one cases of gunpowder for the U.S.S. Albatross were brought to Yokohama by the P.M.S.S. Commodore Alexander, were taken by the Japanese as contraband of war.

ARRIVAL OF THE ZAFIRO.
THE LILOLO CABLE CUT.

The U.S. despatch vessel Zafiro, arrived from Manila at Hongkong on May 27 and reported that the state of affairs at Manila is practically unchanged since our last reports. The American fleet remains at anchor, the small gunboats patrolling the harbour in town. Occasional alarms are given the men at the guns. The remarkable rumours in circulation that a large squadron was being sent out from Spain to the relief of Manila had evidently been rankling in the brain of the look-out on the Zafiro, who one evening reported a long line of lights at regular intervals off the Outer Harbor. The lights were undoubtedly lowered, and the matter brought to the notice of Admiral Dewey, on board the Olympia. Signals were hastily exchanged between the warships, the men were called to quarters and in a very short time all the lights of the fleet were directed towards the entrance to the Bay. The Spanish squadron, however, where to be seen, and it is presumed that the look-out was deceived by the lights of several fishing craft. On May 24, that Queen's Birthday was celebrated with decked ships and the usual salutes. The Zafra brought over 1,000 U. S. Marines, U. S. Consul at Manila and several officers of the fleet, also Mr and Mrs. Johnson, the former of whom, when the other American citizens left Manila, declined to leave on account of the illness of his wife. The Zafra leaves on Monday for the Philippines.

A REBEL ENGAGEMENT.

General Aguinaldo, the rebel leader is massing his followers in and around Cavite. On the evening of May 20, there was a great deal of rifle-firing in the

It is stated that there are 37,000 rebels ready to follow Aguinaldo, the leaders who were in command during his absence have sworn allegiance to him. Only about 4,500 of the rebels are armed with Mauser rifles, but bullock carts with arms and ammunition are occasionally captured on the out-kirts and go to swell the rebel equipment.

And some nationalized ship yards of the United States are being asked to supply the materiel of serious consideration among the American officers. There is no doubt that there is a shortage of provisions, and the destruction of the Spanish fleet must have been a severe drain upon the powder magazines. The troopships from San Francisco with supplies are anxiously awaited. It is stated that the prize money to be distributed amongst the crews will amount to about 60,800 gold to each man. Captain Gridley, the Commander of the Olympia, was a passenger by the Zafiro. He goes home on sick leave. The Commanding Officer of the Olympia is the command of the fleetship. Captain Gridley has been sailing for about three months, but with the prospect of entering upon active service he was reluctant to relinquish his command and therefore went with the fleet to Manila. He left by the Coptic for San Francisco today. There are not more than thirty sick men in the whole fleet.

THREATENED ATTACK ON CAVITE.

On the evening of 20th May, it was freely rumoured amongst the rebels that the Spaniards were to concentrate their forces in an attack on Cavite. The smaller ships of the American squadron were on the alert all night, and the captured gunboat Callao was moved into a position whence she could sweep with her guns the narrow neck of land between Cavite and one day, and the following day the trade arrived which with the Immortalite, made a fine demonstration on Queen's Birthday. Owing to the want of supplies from Manila, the French cruiser Briux was about to leave for Saigon when the Zafiro left for Hongkong.

AFFAIRS IN MANILA.

To quell a threatened mutiny of Spanish and native soldiers in Manila, the priests handed over one million dollars to the Governor-General, and this sum has been mostly absorbed in paying up the arrears of pay. The insurgents in Cavite are unable to commence aggressive operations against the city owing to lack of arms, but they are daily expecting shipments of rifles. The U.S. troops are expected to arrive at Manila about the end of June, and then the American regulars and the rebels, assisted by a large number of Spanish native soldiery, who have agreed to go over to the insurgents as soon as the troops arrive, will commence the attack on the city.

ADMIRAL DEWEY'S ANCESTRY.
Rear-Admiral George Dewey, the naval officer who has charge of the United States war power in Chinese waters, says an American contemporary, is a Vermontian, member of the well-known Montpelier family. He was appointed midshipman in 1854, and four years later he graduated from Annapolis. During the civil war he served on the steam frigate Mississippi at New Orleans, Port Hudson and Donaldson.

In 1861 he was commissioned a lieutenant commander, and in 1872 he received his commission as commander. In 1884 he was raised to the rank of captain and served the Navy Department in several posts, acquitting himself well in all of them. In 1889 he was commissioned as commodore, and at that time he was placed in charge of the bureau of equipment.

THE FIGHT IN CAVITE BAY.

CORRECT NUMBERS OF KILLED AND WOUNDED.

A Manila correspondent, says the following, is a correct statement of killed and wounded on the Spanish side:—In the ships, 78 killed and 235 wounded; in the Arsenal, 23 killed and 45 wounded.

total 381. The original reports were 400 killed and 600 wounded; but we are informed that there were little more than 1,000 men in all on board the Spanish ships. The real reason why Admiral Dewey gave the order to cease firing and retire after the naval engagement in Cavite Bay was not so much to allow his men to partake of breakfast as to conserve supplies of ammunition. He found that his men were pumping the ammunition out-board at such a rate to seriously threaten to exhaust the stock. The Boston is said to have fired over 600 rounds in the first engagement, and only a slightly smaller amount

SEIZURE OF PROVISIONS.

Since her arrival in Kowloon Bay, says the Chin paper, the Chang has been under the surveillance of the Hongkong Police. Doubtless, the Hongkong authorities are anxious to escape the charge of aiding and abetting the Chang in her operations. They are also anxious with that object in view are desirous of preventing contraband of war being transferred from the Colony to the mainland. It is reported that the Chang has on board one or two junks belonging to the compradore A. Tee. These, together with the steam launch towing her, are believed to be carrying a large quantity of provisions seized amounts to about £5,000. These stores are said to be consigned to the Chang from these stores. We are informed that before the Zafiro left Manila, the officers of the various U. S. cruisers were ordered to keep a sharp lookout for her, and to confiscate off some of the luxuries of life of which they have been deprived by their prolonged stay in Philippine waters. The word—merely, personal effects, luxuries for the most part, of the American officers. We are informed that the Chang has been ordered to be kept off the coast, and that such a much irritation, so much so that the base of supplies of this nature will probably be transferred to Hong Kong. The Chang is also reported to be off the coast ports. Already, we have good authority for stating, the U. S. squadron has spent over one and half millions of dollars in the Chang and, if nothing contraband is being smuggled on board the dispatch vessels, it is a pity if this lucrative business is lost to the C. M. Y.

POSITION OF BRITISHERS IN MANILA MORE THREATENING.

H. M. S. Pique, which has been on a trip to Iloilo and Manila, arrived from the latter port on June 3. It is stated to have been on board about the position of the foreign residents, especially of the British residents, is becoming day more and more precarious. One opinion is made that placards have been posted throughout the island inciting the Spaniards against the Britishers. So long as the foreigners elect to remain inside the Spanish lines they are always safe, but if they venture outside for protection for all, even with foreign cruisers in the bay. Private advisers from Manila, however, do not convey any idea of extreme excitement amongst the foreigners.

THE SITUATION AT ILOILO.

Even more than the foreigners in Manila, the foreign community of Iloilo is taking a very reassuring view of the position of affairs. A week or two before the arrival of the Figue, the rebels had made and invasion and looked some chances to punish these "insurrectos," a force of 100 Spanish troops had been sent out to the country. There are some thirty British residents and about sixty foreigners in all—including a few ladies and children. They have no desire to leave Iloilo, not being afraid of the rebels, and the city is doing up as good a profitable way. The Spaniards on the nabont Eleano was not seen, but is believed to be in hiding up the river.

A COUSIN OF AGUINALDO BECOMES A LOYALIST.

There was a rumour that Emilio Aguinaldo has not been so cordially received by the Philippine "insurrectos." It is alleged that far from finding himself a "person of great credit," as the Philippine press has asserted, he has been execrated by a large proportion of them, and was obliged to seek refuge on board a United States cruiser. This, we may say, is not in accordance with the latest information from English sources received by the latest advices from Manila Bay.

battle to the Spaniards at San Francisco, de Malabon on the 31st ult. Balde Mero, Aguinaldo's cousin, has defeated and gone over to the Spaniards, who have given him the titular rank of General. He is attached to the force under the command of General Tria. The Spaniards are forcing Balde Mero to return, but the latter professes intense loyalty to the Spanish cause and elects to remain on that side.

The Governor of Cavite has established his headquarters at San Francisco de Malabon. The suburbs of Cavite are being fortified, troops are being drilled daily at San Francisco, and the establishment of a military and American advance appears to have given heart to the Spanish garrison. Many Spanish families have fled to the town of San Roque with safety. Aguinaldo has now 7000 men armed with rifles.

San Francisco has informed that the U.S. cruisers San Francisco, Bennington and Yorktown are all coming over to join Admiral Dewey's command. The Yorktown, Bennington and Bennington have been at Honolulu, and the San Francisco has been undergoing repairs at San Francisco. The Bennington and Yorktown arrived here today. The Bennington has the same guns, 170 guns, 3430 tons, and the Yorktown has the same guns, 170 guns, 3430 tons, and the Yorktown has the same guns, 170 guns, 3430 tons.

THE LOOTING AT CAVITE.

Light and his house was for damage, that the ship was not afloat. On the comical side of it, a launch had been sent out from on board the Carville to Manila, and in the grey dawn, when Admiral Dewey's fleet were creeping up the Bay, the launch was mistaken for a torpedo-boat, and drew the fire of the American fleet. The engines of the launch were damaged, and although the boat was pulled up the beach, the hull was beached, and afterwards raised, while fortunately none of the crew were injured. His house at Carville was damaged by shells fired at the neighbouring forts by the Americans, merely in the ordinary course of war, but afterwards, the soldiers were ordered to search the houses of the Negroes, and to continue the search until they had destroyed the houses of the Negroes. In his absence, however, the destroyed house referred to was apparently mistaken for the Zairio people as a fair subject for looting—evidently the Zairios were in a hurry—and no one was present who could say that the house or houses were destroyed. It is true that the houses were destroyed, but the evidence is not sufficient to show that the houses were destroyed. It is stated that drawers were broken into and lock-up places opened, while furniture was destroyed and other things removed. That such irregularities

Admiral that gallant officer not only promised prompt payment of any stores removed, but restitution of any household goods found to have been in the store. The correspondent concludes his letter with a warning that the American officers were all very kind and gave their assurance that every reputation would be made.

ECHOES OF SCIENCE.

Professor GERRARD, of the University of Pennsylvania, has been sent to Tampa, and will accompany the U. S. Army to Florida in order to take measures for the prevention of yellow fever in the U. S. camps and garrisons. The fever is restricted to certain parts, and does not seem to be influenced by altitude. As a rule, the more important the town from a commercial point of view, the more it is a focus of the disease.

The troops ought to be stationed in places clear of infection, and should not communicate with diseased persons; but ideal conditions are not always possible in a military command. Whether or not the fever can be kept from the troops depends on whether the medical requirements can be carried out.

Rich deposits of coal have been discovered between Johannesburg and Krugersdorp. The seams are about 200 feet under the surface, and are nearer the gold-fields than the present coal mines. Moreover, a diamond field has been discovered at Rietfontein, according to "Cosmos," and is expected to be twice as rich as Kimberley. Valuable gold reefs 2,400 feet deep have been found between Johannesburg and Krugersdorp. Fortune seems unwilling to leave the Boer farmers in peace.

"Edinburgh-India" reports that an immense gold field has been discovered in the virgin forests of the Gouty Snow mountains, a favourite hunting ground of the late Captain Prince Rudolf of Austria. Rich veins of gold are found 30 to 40 feet below the surface.

Veils have been objected to as impairing the eyesight, and therefore a source of danger to ladies. Dr. G. A. Wood, of Chicago, has selected specimens of the veils worn, and finds that one can better than when they are double. The safest veil is that without dots, sprays, or other figures, and with large regular meshes of single, coarse threads. Weak eyes are injured by wearing veils.

The new island which has risen near the north-west of Borneo, opposite Labuan, is about 300 yards long and 150 yards wide. It is situated in the Gulf of Macassar, and is supposed to be connected with the mainland by a narrow isthmus. It is named after the late Governor of Borneo, Sir James Brooke.

An arctian well sunk at San Marcos, Texas, has led to the discovery of a new species of salamander. It is bluish and nearly white in colour, with long slender legs and toes, which are useless for locomotion but adapted as feelers in the darkness of the underground waters. A specimen of the creature has been sent to Cornell University and named Typhlomolge.

Professor S. H. Vines made a glycerine extract of the mucous membrane in the pitchers of the pitcher plant and found it to be digestible. The digestive action was disputed, but the Professor has recently made further experiments, which tend to confirm his earlier conclusions.

Dr. S. H. Emmens has replied to the letter of Sir William Crookes in the "Mining Journal," and congratulated him on his "first chemist" in England to successfully produce gold. The result of the experiment of Sir William which resulted in an increase of about 21 per cent. in the proportion of gold in silver, after it had been subjected to intense cold and hammering for 40 hours. Dr. Emmens, it appears, publicly predicted, nearly a year ago, that either Sir William Crookes or Professor Dewar would perform the feat of transmutation, and he thinks that Sir William has no cause for modestly declining the credit of his achievement.

Dr. Zanger, German, finds that the poisonous principle of the venom of the honeybee is not destroyed by boiling, nor drying and heating to the boiling point, nor by distillation and evaporation. It is an organic base, soluble with difficulty in water, but kept in solution by an acid. The poison has no effect on a healthy skin, but is a powerful irritant on the mucous membranes. Tests on rabbits show that when placed in the eye the poison injures it and makes the animal blind.

It is stated that in the West Indies the lizard, from the large iguana down to the small lizard, has been found to be a pest to the sugar plantations. The lizard is found in the cane fields, and is found to be a pest to the sugar plantations. The lizard is found in the cane fields, and is found to be a pest to the sugar plantations.

Those who are expecting great things from the change of American sentiment in regard to this country had better read the words of a leading American scientific journal on the area of American islands belonging to European Powers. Spain possesses 39,553 square miles, Great Britain 11,570 square miles, and France, the Netherlands, and Denmark smaller areas of the islands off the Atlantic coasts of the United States; while the States themselves possess none.

"Looking at this list," says the journal, "it is amusing to recall the position taken by foreigners that the United States have no right to desire a transfer of any of these islands to their control, no reason to look askance at this line of foreign and always hostile possessions; and no interests that make these islands necessary to us. The question is often asked: Why is there so much hostile feeling among Americans towards England? The answer is plain enough. Great Britain is the only nation that is arming herself against this country. We consider her course in this respect foolish, and one that she will pay a heavy price for some day, whether she cost to us. It is, however, consistent with her policy in other parts of the globe, and one that has led to great disturbances. When an important technical journal goes out of its way to write so it is evident that we are wise to protect our own in America; and if the Americans dislike the fact they have simply their inordinate ambition to thank for it, as we only desire to live in peace with them. If the Americans object to having neighbours in the world they are 'go to live with us,' and had better find a new planet all to themselves."

Dr. Kopp publishes a paper on indigo salt in the "Society's Journal." Mulhouse, for a number of years a prize has been offered for the process to produce photographic pictures upon cotton fabrics by printing—a problem which has not yet been solved. Dr. Kopp has made a considerable advance towards the solution of the question founded on the following facts:—Indigo salt was formerly sold in commerce as bluish white compound. The same compound was sold, however, in diffused daylight; even if stored in dark room, decomposition set in after a few months. Therefore, Kalle now offers the free "keton" of the indigo salt to the printer, works, and the consumer has to add the bluish white himself directly before use. Kopp had made the observation that cotton goods prepared with indigo salt, if they were marked by too high, for some time before treatment with soda lye, did not show a nice blue effect. On this he based his photographic process. He prepared a solution of indigo salt, 75 grammes; sodium bisulphate, 40 g.; water, 1,000 litres; soda, 10 grammes; water, 40 c.c.m.; wax, 140 litres; gum water, 10 litres. With exclusion of light, and the fabric is prepared for the photographic printing. Expose the texture, according to the description of the "cliche" and the concentration of the colour, from one hour to one day to the sun. The design forms in yellow, passing more or less into dark brown. Develop with caustic soda lye of 15 deg. B. at 62 deg. Cent. on the forward wash and dry.

The report of the Committee appointed by the Society of Arts to consider the causes of the deterioration of paper appears in the "Society's Journal." The Committee have examined books of various ages, and evidence of "deterioration of paper," some submitted by librarians in a condition of complete disintegration; some of their own selection, exhibiting various grades of deterioration of the paper of which they are composed. They conclude on the evidence before them as follows:—As to the tendencies to deterioration of papers there are marked (1) by discoloration, (2) by discolouration. They are independent effects, but may be concurrent. They are notably so in papers containing mechanical wood pulp. Actual disintegration has been brought to light in papers of all grades; from those of the best quality as regards the fibrous material of which they are composed, i.e., rag papers; also of course in those of lowest quality, i.e., containing mechanical wood pulp in large proportions. It is generally the result of the changes in the change of the fibres themselves. As to the causes determining such changes: In the case of the rag papers examined the effects appear to be due to acids; bodies; the disintegration may be generally referred to acidity. In the case of mechanical wood pulp the effects are traceable to oxidation, pure and simple; the disintegration is accompanied by a basic or alkaline reaction of the paper. Discolouration may be said also to affect all papers more or less, and without discussing minutely the chemistry of the changes, the evidence obtained certainly warrants the general conclusion that discolouration of ordinary cellulose papers (as distinct from those containing mechanical wood pulp) under usual conditions of storage is proportional to the amount of resin which they contain, or more generally to the resinous matter employed for fixing it in the ordinary process of engine-sizing.

MANUFACTORY LONDON, E.

A New Era in Cod-Liver Oil Manufacture.

We are indebted to recent scientific researches for the revelation of the no less surprising than important fact, that all the Cod Liver Oil hitherto produced not a particle has been really pure, even when claimed to be "the purest"; however pure the source the present system of manufacture always being contaminated with decomposition products of its own fats, hence the nauseating and "repeating" properties.

With full knowledge of the cause Peter Müller found the remedy, and having remodelled his factories in accordance with the requirements of the new discovery, he has now adopted a new system of manufacture which, for the first time in the history of this invaluable remedy, produces a pure, and very different from other oils: easy to digest, and quite free from the tendency to create unpleasant eruptions.

THIS NEW OIL IS KNOWN AS

PETER MÜLLER'S HYDROXYL-FREE COD LIVER OIL.

The Lancet, June 8th, 1895.—"It is now known that Cod Liver Oil can be prepared, not only free from objectionable taste, but also free from the tendency to cause unpleasant eruptions." This latter fact is of great importance, and has been the result of the new process.

The Lancet and Medical Press (London), 18th May, 1895.—"Müller's Cod Liver Oil." It would be difficult to speak too highly of this oil; the taste makes the advantage of the hydroxyl-free process, one could not tell it to be an oil. The absence of eruption we have again tested and proved."
